MULTI-FAMILY OFFICE PLATFORM

Inter-generational transfer of wealth

Professional structuring of wealth management

Superior performance, diversification and risk management

An approach designed to safeguard wealth & pass it on to the future generation

Intergenerational transmission of wealth

One of the key elements requested by our clients warranting the creation of a Family Office relates to the necessity of ensuring the intergenerational transfer of wealth accrued over years if not generations.

As a family grows and evolves, the risk of dilution increases, and the need for wealth preservation strategies and appropriate governance structures becomes more evident.

Professional structuring of wealth management

While this situation is familiar in regions of the world such as the U.S. and Europe, it is only just starting to become salient in many developing countries.

Over the past 25 years, particularly in the Middle East, Asia, and Latin America, the business success of certain families has increased their wealth substantially. These families are increasingly recognising the need of establishing a solid structure to safeguard their prosperity and pass their wealth on to future generations. These families wish to establish an appropriate structure capable of managing their wealth professionally, similarly to the management structures of business firms, which face frequent changes in legal, economic, and social conditions.

Superior diversification and risk Management

Not infrequently, these families' wealth derives from one main activity, which ultimately calls for the creation of a diversification strategy. It is thus important to suggest strategies that will offer diversification in terms of revenue sources and asset composition and location, and in particular that will ensure a measure of liquidity and improved access to funds.

Our Multi-Family Office approach enables us to offer services tailored to the specific needs of such families, advising a complete range of financial products maximizing available competencies while minimizing the costs typically associated with such dedicated structures.

An approach designed to safeguard wealth and pass it on to future generations

The services offered by our Multi-Family Office address a broad range of needs and requirements formulated by exacting HNW and UHNW clients, facilitating the latter's access to a broader set of competencies.

We offer specialised capabilities with the aim of optimizing the management of clients' wealth, fostering its development, understanding related issues and risks, and ultimately facilitating the management process, generating a newfound serenity.

With respect to investments, our Multi-Family Office services provide the best concept to effectively address the complexity of managing assets and overall wealth while ensuring risk diversification and opportunity optimization, as well as efficiently managing costs.

WHY BEARBULL REAL ESTATE ADVISORY?

Expertise & Experience
Broad & Established Network
Proven Track Record

Long-Standing Commitment to Real Estate Investments

At BearBull Group, we have always highlighted the benefits of including direct or indirect real estate in the asset management process. In the '90s already, we recommended balancing investment strategies by including real estate investments into mixed-asset portfolios.

Our study "Real estate: Impact on investment strategy performance and risk (1984-1997)" was used as a reference case study by the Swiss Pensions. We demonstrated that introducing real estate as an additional asset class in the universe of assets traditionally included in an institutional investment strategy generated an overall improvement in performance and decrease in risk.

Direct Investments and Investment Funds

Convinced of the advantages of incorporating real estate in the asset management process, we have developed several solutions to implement active real estate investment management concepts globally and through transparent and tradable real estate investment vehicles.

Real Estate Fund Structuring Services

We assist our clients in formulating, structuring and implementing real estate funds and investment vehicles.

We have the ability to assist our clients from the initial conceptualization and identification of the market opportunities through set-up, operation, as well as the ongoing fund advisory.

BearBull Fund Advisory Services include:

- Fund Concept and Strategy
- Fund Set-up and Structure
- Fund Documentation (PPM & Marketing Materials)
- Capital Raising Support – Equity and Debt
- Deal Flow and Investment Sourcing
- On-going strategic and tactical advisory
- Fund Reporting and operational support

Real Estate Investment Strategy Success Factors

A successful real estate investment strategy depends on an analysis of the following factors:

- Top-down analysis of the economic cycle, inflation and interest rates
- Analysis of the underlying real estate markets
- Geographic allocation
- Allocation between residential, commercial, industrial and hotel sectors
- Tactical allocation among the different types of real estate investments
- Bottom-up analysis of performance, yields, valuations, risk premiums, debt and vacancy rates

Diversification into Foreign Investments

Internationally, the opportunity to diversify is greater than locally. Correlations between international and UAE real estate investments are low, and international diversification is clearly superior, often providing far greater returns and potential for capital gains.
